The value of the prizes, indicated above, is given as an indication.

As stipulated in article 3.4 of these rules, the prizes are awarded at random.

The prizes are personal and may not be transferred to third parties. A participant may only be awarded one prize (same surname, first name, e-mail address and postal address).

In addition, a person may accompany a winner only once.

Participants may not claim any compensation or payment of the difference between the actual value and the indicative value. Furthermore, participants may not claim payment by the Organizing Company of the equivalent value of their prize in euros. Prizes are not exchangeable, refundable or modifiable. They may not be the subject of financial consideration.

The prizes are limited to their designation. Consequently, no additional costs or services may be requested by the winners from the Organizing Company. Any such additional costs or services will be the sole responsibility of the winner (including, but not limited to, transportation, meals, accommodation, etc.).

4.2 Delivery of prizes

Once the draw has been made, the winners will be contacted by the Organizing Company within ten (10) days directly by e-mail. Within a maximum of seven (7) days after the Organizing Company has sent the said e-mail, the winners must confirm their interest in the prizes they have won.

Participants are advised to check their e-mail inboxes and junk mail regularly.

Then, a few days before the competition, the Paris 2024 Organizing Committee for the Olympic and Paralympic Games (COJOP) will send the tickets to the winners via the "Paris 2024 Tickets" smartphone application. A secure QR code will appear on the tickets just a few hours before the event to prevent forgery. These QR code tickets will be the only means accepted by staff at event entrances. No printouts or screenshots will be accepted by ticket verification and validation staff.

Unless otherwise specified by the Paris 2024 Organizing Committee for the Olympic and Paralympic Games (COJOP), tickets can only be transferred twice (2) via the "Paris 2024 Tickets" smartphone application. If a winner wishes to transfer a ticket to a relative, the procedure is as follows:

- Go to the "Paris 2024 Tickets" application;
- Click on "Transfer" under the ticket you wish to transfer to a relative;
- Confirm the transfer and make sure it's the right ticket;

- Confirm the desired delivery mode;
- Share the download link with your beneficiary;
- Confirm the transfer (you can always cancel the transfer as long as the beneficiary has not accepted it);
- Your ticket is now being transferred! Once the beneficiary has accepted the transfer, you'll be notified (remember to activate notifications on your application to keep up to date with your ticketing news).

The resale of prizes is strictly forbidden.

The Organizing Company is in no way responsible for the delivery of the prizes. Therefore, the Organizing Company will not be able to send the prizes by e-mail, post or any other means.

The Organizing Company cannot be held responsible if the winners and their respective companions are unable to connect to the "Paris 2024 Tickets" smartphone application.

To gain access to the events, holders of tickets allocated on the "Paris 2024 Tickets" smartphone application must be prepared to undergo an identity check during which their identity must match the first and last names on their ticket. Winners and their respective companions are required to consult the Paris 2024 regulations available on the "Paris 2024 Tickets" smartphone application.

4.3 Unclaimed or unrecovered endowments

If the winner does not reply to the e-mail sent by the Organizing Company within the time limit mentioned in the first paragraph of article 4.2 of these rules, the winner will lose the prize. If time permits, the prize will be put back into play and a new winner will be drawn at random from among the losing participants. In the absence of sufficient time, the prize will not be put back into play.

It is specified that the winner is solely responsible for taking the necessary steps to collect his/her prize via the "Paris 2024 Tickets" smartphone application. The Organizing Company may not be held responsible if the winner has not taken the necessary steps.

Furthermore, if for any reason whatsoever, the winners and/or their respective companions do not wish to or are unable to benefit from their prize, they may not claim any reimbursement, compensation or consideration of any kind.

The Organizing Company may not be held liable for any damage or prejudice suffered (direct, indirect, bodily, material or immaterial) that may occur to the winners and their respective companions during the Paris 2024 Olympic Games.

4.4 Incomplete or erroneous information

Any incomplete, erroneous or falsified information, or information that does not enable a participant to be identified or located, will result in the cancellation of his/her/their participation. Participants are responsible for changing their contact details and must notify the Organizing Company of any changes as soon as possible.

4.5 Miscellaneous

The Organizing Company will not provide any additional services concerning the prizes.

The Organizing Company shall not be liable for any damages arising from the use of the prizes by the winner(s).

The Organizing Company reserves the right, for any reason whatsoever, to modify, extend, shorten, suspend or cancel the Contest, without incurring any liability as a result. In such a case, the Organizing Company reserves the right to replace the prizes with products of lesser, equal or greater value in the event that the said prizes are unavailable, without the participant being able to make any claim in this regard.

Should a winner win several prizes, the Organizing Company reserves the right to cancel all or part of these prizes at any time.

No email, letter or message in general will be sent to the losers of the Game.

The Organizing Company and Artefact may not be held liable for the impossibility of contacting each winner, nor in the event of loss, theft or damage to tickets for the Olympic Games during distribution by the Paris 2024 Organizing Committee for the Olympic and Paralympic Games (COJOP).

Article 5: Personal data

Participants' personal data is collected and processed by the Organizing Company in order to manage the organization and communication of the Game, in accordance with the contractual terms of these Rules.

These personal data will only be transmitted to the Organizing Company's management department and to Artefact.

Personal data collected includes surname, first name, email address, date of birth, zip code, cell phone number.

The data collected will be treated as confidential and will only be used for the purposes of the Game. No personal data will be sold, shared or disclosed to third parties, except to Artefact within the framework of the Game, without the explicit consent of the participants, except in the cases provided for by law.

Participants' personal data will be kept for a period of four (4) months from the end of the Game. Once this period has elapsed, the data will be deleted in accordance with current legal and regulatory obligations.

To exercise their rights (access, rectification, deletion, limitation of the processing of your data, as well as their portability), participants may contact the Data Protection Officer of the Organizing Company by e-mail: informatique.libertes@adp.fr.

Participants may contact the Commission Nationale de l'Informatique et des Libertés (CNIL) if, after having contacted the above-mentioned Data Protection Officer, they feel that their data rights have not been respected.

Participants who exercise their right to have their data deleted before the end of the Game will be deemed to have waived their right to participate. Similarly, any winner who requests the deletion of his or her data before the date on which the prize is awarded, making it impossible to contact the Organizing Company, will be deemed to have waived participation and the award of his or her prize.

Article 6: Miscellaneous

Participation in the Game implies knowledge and acceptance of the characteristics and limits of the Internet, particularly with regard to technical performance, response times for consulting, querying or transferring information, the lack of protection of certain data against possible misappropriation and the risks of contamination by any viruses circulating on the network.

The Organizing Company cannot be held responsible for the malfunctioning of the contest.game.extime.com site and/or the Game for a given browser.

The Organizing Company does not guarantee that the contest.game.extime.com site and/or the Game will operate without interruption or that it will be free of computer errors of any kind, or that any defects observed will be corrected. In the event of a technical malfunction of the Game, the Organizing Company reserves the right to invalidate and/or cancel the weekly session during which said malfunction occurred. No claims will be accepted as a result.

The Organizing Company may not be held liable if the data relating to a participant's registration does not reach it for any reason for which it is not responsible (for example, a problem connecting to the Internet for any reason whatsoever on the part of the participant, a momentary failure of the servers for any reason whatsoever, etc.) or arrives illegible or impossible to process (for example, if the participant has inadequate computer hardware or software environment for registration, etc.).

The Organizing Company reserves the right to exclude, at any time and without notice, from participation in the present Game any person disrupting the Game or disrupting the operations described in the present rules, or attempting to do so.

Any information provided by the winner, in particular the winner's contact details, will be considered null and void and will not be taken into consideration if it contains any inaccuracies.

The Organizing Company may not be held liable for any prejudice of any kind (personal, physical, material, financial or other) arising from a participant's participation in the Game.

The Organizing Company reserves the right to shorten, extend or cancel all or part of the present Contest should circumstances so require, particularly in the case of compelling reasons. It shall not be held liable for any such changes. Such changes may, however, be notified in advance by any appropriate means.

Participation in this Game implies full and unreserved acceptance of these rules and of the rules of good conduct on the Internet.

These rules can be consulted for the duration of the Contest on the following website: <https://www.extime.com/paris/jo-paris-2024>

For any questions relating to these rules, the Game and the awarding of prizes, participants and winners may contact the following e-mail address: marketing.extime@adp.fr

Article 7: Intellectual property

The Organizing Company remains the sole and exclusive owner of all its intellectual property rights.

In this respect, participants are reminded that their participation in the Game does not confer any right to the elements protected by intellectual property law, of which the Organizing Company is the holder and/or owner.

Article 8: Submission of regulations

These rules have been filed with a bailiff whose information and contact details are as follows: Étude CBO GRAND PARIS JUSTICE, 32 Avenue Charles Floquet, 75 007 PARIS.

The rules may be sent free of charge by the bailiff upon written request from any participant by writing to the following e-mail address: contact@cboparis.com or to the postal address Étude CBO GRAND PARIS JUSTICE -32, Avenue Charles Floquet, 75 007 PARIS. Participants wishing to be reimbursed for the postage costs associated with this request for rules must specify this in their letter (reimbursement on the basis of a simple letter weighing less than 20 g and stamped at the current economy rate).

Article 9: Complaints

Complaints concerning the Game may be sent to the following e-mail address: marketing.extime@adp.fr

The Organizing Company will not be required to respond to any claim sent after July 15, 2024.

Article 10: Applicable law - Jurisdiction

These rules are governed by French law.

In the event of a dispute, the Organizing Company and the participant will attempt to reach an amicable agreement. Failing amicable settlement, the dispute will be settled by the competent French court.
